A DORMANT MINT.

A little over a year ago the Mint was, through the energy of Capt. Gosset, the Treasurer of this Colony and Deputy Master of the Mint, erected in this city, and a few specimen coins were struck off, but beyond that nothing has yet been done with it. It is not our intention now to enter upon a history of the establishment of this institution, as we have already done so. But now that our mines are yielding up their treasure, in a ratio which would assuredly justify such a step, we demand of the Executive, on behalf of the people of this Colony, to know why measures are not taken to work the Mint and coin our gold, instead of having it all go to San Francisco, as now, for coinage. Treasure has been coming down for some time at the rate of about $100,000 a week; and from our acquaintance with the miners we know that were the Mint in operation a very large proportion of it would be converted into coin here.

A feeling prevails amongst the miners, and a very natural one it is, in favor of having their own gold converted into coin. Men who have passed through so many hardships, who by their persevering industry have explored the country, and have been successful in accumulating enough of the precious metal to constitute a fortune, very naturally prefer to have their coin made from that identical metal which has cost them so much prospecting, anxiety and privation, and has thereby in a manner become endeared to them. There is a sort of gratification, a pardonable pride, in laying by coin manufactured from raw material dug out of the earth with one's own hands; and this feeling, added to the saving which would accrue to all parties from having a Mint here would cause a very large amount of the product of our gold fields to find its way into the Mint were it in operation.

It does seem unaccountably strange that as early as '58 and '59 Governor Douglas urged upon the Imperial Government the importance of establishing a Mint, and mourned over the fact that all our gold had to go for coinage to a foreign country, and after getting one and incurring the expense of putting it in working order it has been permitted to lie idle and rusting for over twelve months, while the evil of which he complained so bitterly five years ago has not only continued but has greatly augmented. Business men and miners are still paying a heavy per centage for procuring coin from San Francisco in exchange for their gold, and the inducement still exists for our miners to leave the Colony during the winter in order to get the gold minted.

If we had not a Mint, and the position were taken that we could not afford to get one we could understand the matter. But when it is considered that we have one all ready to go to work, at a cost to the Colony of not less than $15,000, and, moreover, that we have the force to work it too, the policy, if such it can be called, of allowing the establishment to lie and rust, while the commerce of the country is suffering for want of coin, is entirely beyond our comprehension. We are assured by practical men that with the present staff employed in the Assay Department the Mint could be worked perfectly well without at all interfering with the efficiency of either. We of course do not know what explanation of this strange proceeding His Excellency has given at the Colonial Office, or whether the Duke is not too lazy and indifferent to our interests to require any explanation at all; but we do know that the people from whose pockets the $15,000 have been filched will expect, and when the time arrives, demand, to know why they have been subjected to such singular treatment at the hands of an absentee Governor.

We, of course, have our own solution to the seeming mystery; and it is that the Governor desired to have the Mint in Victoria, and that having been circumvented by Capt. Gosset, he determined that we should not derive any benefit therefrom. We feel confident that had he succeeded in having it located at Victoria it would have been in active operation all this time. It may seem unreasonable to accuse a Governor of a British Colony of being actuated to such an extent by personal interest and local considerations. But we are by no means confined to this solitary case as a proof of the truth of the accusation. Indeed there are but few of his official acts since he assumed the reins of Government which do not point unmistakably to the same conclusion.

The British Columbian.
NEW WESTMINSTER, SATURDAY, JUNE 27, 1863.
WHO IS TO BLAME, THE GOVERNOR OR THE DUKE?

We have in previous articles endeavored to point out the position and claims of the aborigines, indicate a scheme for the amelioration of their condition and adduce instances illustrative of their capacity for civilization and elevation. We now purpose devoting a little space to the consideration of a much less pleasing duty, viz., the neglect of the Indians by our Government, and present and possible consequences.

The instructions of Sir Bulwer Lytton to Governor Douglas in respect to the treatment of the Indian tribes of this Colony are pregnant with a philanthropic solicitude for their welfare, and indicate a statesmanlike forethought. In one of his dispatches, dated July 31st, 1858, we find the following: "I have to enjoin upon you to consider the best and most humane means of dealing with the Native Indians. The feelings of this country would be strongly opposed to the adoption of any arbitrary or oppressive measures towards them. At this distance, and with the imperfect means of knowledge which I possess, I am reluctant to offer, as yet, any suggestion as to the prevention of affrays between the Indians and the immigrants. This question is of so local a character that it must be solved by your knowledge and experience, and I commit it to you, in the full persuasion that you will pay every regard to the interests of the Natives; which an enlightened humanity can suggest. Let me not omit to observe that it should be an invariable condition, in all bargains or treaties with the Natives for the cession of lands possessed by them, that subsistence should be supplied them in some other shape, and above all, that it is the earnest desire of Her Majesty's Government that your early attention should be given to the best means of diffusing the blessings of the Christian Religion and of Civilization among the Natives." The use of the word "cession" would indicate the recognition of the very principle we have been laying down in reference to the Indian lands.

Thus it will appear that five years ago, come the 31st proximo, Governor Douglas received these important and pressing instructions respecting the native tribes, instructions which have been totally disregarded by His Excellency. What has he done during the five years which have intervened towards carrying into effect these admonitions of the Colonial Minister? Let the neglected, wronged and debauched Indians answer; and their answer ought to raise a blush upon the cheek of the representative of Royalty in these Colonies were such a phenomenon possible. Not the first reservation of any importance has been laid off for them; not the first acre has been ceded; but hundreds of acres, including their cultivated fields and even their burial grounds, have been wrested from them. Not the first dollar has been spent in administering to their comfort, health or enlightenment. And the first step has yet to be taken by our Government either for their temporal or spiritual welfare.

The European has come and taken the most unceremonious possession of their little homesteads, in some cases unwittingly, and ill feeling, complication and litigation are the consequences. Had His Excellency, in obedience to the instructions alluded to, caused proper reservations, or even, as a temporary expedient, the places they occupied to be surveyed or marked out in any noticeable manner so as to leave the white settler without excuse for encroaching thereon, all this would have been averted, and the Indians would not now look upon us as their foes, come amongst them to demoralize and rob them. Had the Indians of these Colonies been fairly and properly dealt with they would very soon have seen that it was to their interest every way to have the white men as neighbors, and instead of having to deplore the commission of some dozen bloody murders during the short space of a few months, and finding it necessary to employ ships of war against them, the best of feeling would have existed and peace and quietness would have reigned in the outlying settlements of this and the neighboring Colony.

Who is to blame for this sad if not alarming state of our Indian relations? Is it the result of apathy in the Colonial Office or in our absentee Governor? We know that the British Government and people are anything but indifferent upon the subject of the treatment of the aborigines in this in common with all other British territory. Witness the magnificent donations for the support of foreign missions from her people, and especially the language contained in the Queen's Proclamation addressed to the Princes, chiefs and people of Her Indian Empire shortly after the suppression of the terrible revolt of 1856-7. One clause of that noble document we copy for the benefit of Mr. Douglas: "We deeply lament the evils and misery which have been brought upon India by the acts of ambitious men who have deceived their countrymen by false reports and led them into open rebellion. Our power has been shown by the suppression of that rebellion in the field; we desire to show our mercy by pardoning the offences of those who have been thus misled, but who desire to return to the path of duty."

Is it not a fact that the fault rests chiefly with the Governor? Has he not disregarded his instructions, and by manufacturing dispatches containing glowing descriptions of his intercourse with the natives and touching illustrations of the power of "biscuit and molasses" over the pagan mind systematically "deceived his countrymen by false reports?" We need not write the answer, for it is on the tongue of every colonist. But this much we will say, that unless a proper Indian policy be inaugurated very shortly and judiciously worked out, and we fear Mr. Douglas is not the man to entrust with the task, our Indian difficulties will soon assume an importance which will not fail to secure the attention of the Imperial Government.

Poetry.

Passion Fast.

Were I a boy, with a boy's heart-beat
At glimpse of her passing down the street,
Of a room where she had entered and gone,
Or a page her hand had written on—
Would all be with me as it was before?
Oh no, never! no, never!
Never any more.

Were I a man, with a man's pulse-throb,
Breath hard and fierce, held down like a sob,
Dumb, yet bearing her lightest word,
Blind, until only her garments stirred;
Would I pour my life like wine on her floor?
Never any more.

Grey and withered, wrinkled and marred,
I have gone through the fire and come out unscarred,
With image of manhood upon me yet,
No shame to remember, no wish to forget;
But could she rekindle the pangs I bore?
Oh no, never! thank God, never!
Never any more.

Old and wrinkled, withered and gray—
And yet if her light step passed to-day,
I should see her face all faces among,
And say—"Heaven love thee, whom I loved long!
Thou hast lost the key of my heart's door,
Lost it ever, and forever,
Ay, for evermore."—Miss Mulock.

MR. GLADSTONE AND THE SUNDERLAND SHIP-OWNER.

A writer in the Durham Advertiser tells the following amusing story:
I heard of one evening a capital anecdote,
in which Mr. Lindsay figures, and as the story has not yet appeared in print, I may venture to narrate it, especially as it is remarkably appropriate to the present time.

A brusque but wealthy shipowner of Sunderland once entered the London offices of Mr.
Lindsay on business, when the following dialogue ensued:
No, is Lindsay in? inquired the Northern diamond in the rough.

Sir! exclaimed the clerk to whom the inquiry was addressed.
He will be in shortly, said the clerk, will you wait?

The Sunderland shipowner intimated that he would wait, and was ushered into an adjacent room, where a person was busily engaged in copying some statistics. Our Sunderland friend paced the room several times, and, after a while, deliberately walked to the table where the occupant of the room was seated, and took careful notes of the writer's doings. Shortly the copier looked up enquiringly, when the Northerner said—

Thou writes a bonny hand, thou dost.
I am glad you think so, was the reply.
Ah, thou dost; thou makes the figures weel;
thou't just the chap I want.

Indeed! said the Londoner.
Yes, indeed! said Sunderland; I'm a man of few words; no, if thou'lt come over to canny Sunderland, thou see'st I'll gie thee a hoondred and twenty pounds a year—and that's a plan thou don't meet with every day in thy life, I reckon—noo then?

The Londoner thanked the admirer of his penmanship very gratefully, and intimated that he would like to consult Mr. Lindsay upon the subject.

Ah, that's reet, said our honest friend; that's reet; all fair and aboveboard with me. That's reet.

At that moment in walked Mr. Lindsay, who cordially greeted his Sunderland friend, after which the gentleman at the desk gravely rose and informed Mr. Lindsay of the handsome offer which had been made to him to enter the Sunderland shipowner's office.

Very well sir, said Mr. Lindsay, I should be sorry to stand in your way; £120 a year is more than I can at present afford to pay you in the department in which you are at present placed.
You will find my friend a good and kind master
and under the circumstances I think the sooner
you know each other the better; allow me, therefore, to introduce to you the Right Honorable W. E. Gladstone her Majesty's Chancellor of the Exchequer.

The Sunderland shipowner, you may be sure,
was a little taken aback at first; but soon recovered his self possession, and enjoyed the joke quite as much as Mr. Gladstone.

Mrs. Grundy was recently thrown into ecstasies on being told that she resembled the wife of Socrates. She had heard of him, and thought it highly complimentary to be told that she resembled the wife of so great a man.

In the reign of Henry VIII. there was struck a small silver coin, of little value, called a dandy prat; which, observes Bishop Fleetwood, was the origin of the term dandy, applied to worthless and contemptible persons.

Three Venetians having come to this country were so dreadfully attacked with ophthalmia as almost entirely to lose their sight. "What can we do with these poor fellows?" asked a surgeon at one of the hospitals. "Why," said a wag, "at the worst we can set each of them up as a Venetian blind!"

EASE AND HEALTH TO THE SICK

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

DISEASES OF THE SKIN.

Universal approbation has been awarded to this famous Ointment for its efficiency in removing diseases of the skin. For scrofula, scurvy, scald heads, and all eruptions of the skin, both in infancy and mature years, no remedy can be applied so safely and so quickly cures as Holloway's Ointment. In the nursery it should always be at hand to ease the many skin affections to which the majority of children are liable. In all heat and tooth rashes, the Ointment is wonderfully cooling and curative. To soldiers, sailors, miners, and travellers in foreign lands, it is invaluable.

SORES, WOUNDS, BAD BREASTS, BAD LEGS.

In this class of maladies, an improvement in the appearance of the disease of the patient, follows the first dressing with the Ointment.

It must not only be smeared on the wound, or sore,
but be briskly rubbed for some inches round about the diseased swollen or painful parts. It will penetrate to the blood vessels, nerves, and muscles, and healing,
bone, and will exercise the most wholesome, healing,
and purifying power over every tissue requisite for thorough reparation. The effect of the Ointment is increased by fomenting with warm water before the Ointment is rubbed in; but sores, when healing, should never be cleansed with sponge or anything else, as the young and new flesh which appears like a cream, would be washed away.

BLOOD TO THE HEAD, APOPLEXY.

Nothing gives so much ease in these complaints from which so many suffer, as Holloway's cooling and healing Ointment. When rubbed upon the spine it acts most energetically in drawing surplus blood from the brain; even to children in teething; this Ointment has a miraculous effect in preventing fits and convulsions, so often attendant on tooth-cutting. The Pills should be used according to the directions.

RHEUMATISM, GOUT, STIFF JOINTS.

Every one suffering from these painful affections
should use this purifying Ointment, as it has rescued thousands from a life of torture, after every other means had been tried in vain. The Ointment should be well rubbed into the skin at least twice a day, after it has been properly fomented with warm salt-water, and dried.
The inflammation soon yields, and the patient no longer helpless, resumes his accustomed occupation.

GLANDULAR SWELLINGS, BRONCHITIS, MUMPS, SORE THROAT, AND DIPHTHERIA.

To combat these diseases with success, a remedy is required which will have the whole absorbent system under its control. Such a remedy is Holloway's Ointment, when rubbed on the skin, it penetrates to the glands, and removes any obstruction or impurity which may be impeding their healthy action. This Ointment acts on the very mainspring of life, for through the glands pass all new matter required for the body's reparation; in all the above class of cases, the Ointment and Pills used conjointly will act so searching, and certainly, as to effect cures in the most deplorable cases.

FISTULAS AND PILES.

All inflammations and ulcerations of sensitive parts may be presently relieved, and ultimately cured, by the diligent use of this cooling and healing Ointment, aided twice daily by bathing the parts in cold water. Immediate ease springs from this treatment; perseverance is necessary to effect a permanent cure.

ASTHMA, SHORTNESS OF BREATH.

In these complaints the Ointment should be well rubbed twice a day upon the chest, and between the shoulders; it will penetrate to the lungs, stimulate them to renewed exertions, prevent stagnation of blood, moderate the pulsations of the heart, regulate the current of air through the bronchial tubes, and thus effect a permanent cure.

Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases:—

Bad Legs.	Chapped Hands.	Scalds.
Bad Breasts.	Contracted and	Sore Nipples.
Burns.	Stiff Joints.	Sore-throats.
Bunions.	Elephantiasis.	Skin-diseases.
Bite of Mosquitoes.	Fistulas.	Scurvy.
and Sand-Flies.	Gout.	Sore-heads.
Coco-bay.	Glandular Swel-	Ulcers.
Chiefo-foot.	lumps.	Wounds.

WAGON ROAD.

The chained distances on the Yale and Lytton Road are as follows:

From Yale to Boston Bar, 25 Miles.

" Boston Bar to Lytton, 32 "

" Lytton to McLean's, 47 "

" McLean's to Junction of Wagon Road, 19 "

Distance from Yale to Junction, 124 "

COMPARE THE ABOVE

with the following distances set down by Lillooet Shippers:

From Douglas to Lillooet, 110 Miles.

" Lillooet to Junction, 47 "

Dist. from Douglas to Junction, 157 "

THE JUNCTION

is the point at which the Wagon Roads intersect each other, and where the Cariboo-bound traveller by the Yale-Lytton and Douglas-Lillooet routes MUST meet.

It will, therefore, be seen by the above figures that the traveller by YALE and LYTTON has

THIRTY-THREE MILES LESS TRAVEL

than if he went by the Douglas-Lillooet route.
